

"LOCKED OUT"

New 90-Minute Labor Documentary on a Successful Struggle Against Corporate Greed

Produced & Directed by Joan Sekler ~ Now Available on DVD

"LOCKED OUT" is a David and Goliath story of how 560 unionized (ILWU) miners in the desert town of Boron, California stood up to their employer, Rio Tinto, a giant multinational mining corporation, and won a decent contract after being locked out of their jobs for 107 days and replaced by scabs during those 3 1/2 months.

This is an example of how workers can organize against capitalist exploitation.
