DON McMILLAN - Technically Funny

Don McMillan knows your pain. For 10 years, he toiled as an electrical engineer for IBM, AT&T, and other assorted acronyms. He's all-too-familiar with the frustrations of corporate culture and the often-impossible job of making technology work.

Odds are you've seen McMillan as the star of fifteen national commercials for Budweiser Beer, 7-11, Franco-American Ravioli, Little Caesar's Pizza, ServiStar Hardware, and United Airlines. His numerous television appearances include "The Tonight Show," CNN's "The Larry King Show," MTV's "Half Hour Comedy Hour," and A&E's "Evening at the Improv."

RON G. - R&B Comedian

Ron G is blazing a trail as one of the hottest upcoming comedians in LA. This former class clown decided it was time to graduate from the classroom and take his act to the world's stage. He has been performing at clubs, colleges, churches and corporate events across the country, entertaining people while staying true to his commitment to clean humor.

He was a finalist on the new hit TV show Bill Bellamy's "Who's Got Jokes" and was also a finalist on the most recent season of NBC's Last Comic Standing. His performance presents down to earth humor and funny characters.
