

JUST ONE MORE VOICE,

Just one more hour.

(Community Service)

It's getting close, time is moving fast and we all need to rally those supportive voices, for Barack, and for America.

So here's the plan... Pick one person you know, someone who is not involved in the Barack campaign, someone who may support him, but who has not yet got involved. Call and ask that they come on to the website and donate just one hour of their time to making calls, or to organize events.

Just one more voice, just one more hour is all it takes to make a change.

Now here's the important part, tell them that you appreciate their support, tell them that America appreciates their support and tell them that Barack appreciates their support, and then ask them to pick up the phone and call someone...

Ask them to pick one person they know, someone who is not involved in the Barack campaign, someone who may support him, but who has not yet got involved...

Ask that they follow these exact same steps, and that once their friend has come on line, once they have donated some time that they pass it forward.

One voice, one hour is all it takes to move a nation.

Make that voice count, make it your voice.
